Committee Discussion Questions

- What are the first steps to making advances in addressing the social determinants of health?
- Do you think that addressing the social determinants of health will help address health care spending?
- How can we best link health care services to other social services? Is there a natural link (e.g., among navigators, social workers, community organizations?)?
- Is there a business case to be made by those in the health industry to address the social determinants of health?
- How can we simultaneously address the social determinants of health and racial inequities?
